
Sarah Krones Biography 2013

Sarah studied environmental science at the University of MD. She taught high school, was the owner and manager of a small farming operation, and organized inner-city community gardens before joining the class of 2016 at the VA-MD Regional College of Vet Med. She's earning a dual DVM/MPH degree and hopes to become involved in One Health-based international community development programs. Her hobbies include biking, hiking, playing guitar, and growing vegetables.