I'm holding a cougar skull from Yellowstone National Park. I was able to visit the park with my family this summer. I also enjoyed lunch with a buffalo.

Without the generous contributions of those who donated to the 2013 Veterinary Student Travel Awards Program, I would not have been able to attend my 4th USAHA/AAVLD Conference. Thank You!

Before graduating with my Bachelors in Biology, from Virginia Tech, I microinjected viral mRNA into Xenopus leavis embryos and interned at the University of Buenos Aires, Argentina. After admittance into the VMRCVM, I participated in veterinary related programs in Italy and India. Currently, I am interested in transboundary disease management and public policy. Off the clock, I participate in Civil War Reenacting, salsa dancing and I take Merlin on hiking dates. Merlin is my two-year-old Weimaraner, I am quite proud of him!
