

Katherine Schuhmacher Biography 2013

Katherine Schuhmacher is originally from Austin, Texas and graduated from The George Washington University with a degree in Biological Anthropology. She is currently a third year veterinary student pursuing mixed animal medicine and public health at Cornell University College of Veterinary Medicine. She is especially interested in international veterinary medicine in Latin America.