
Amanda Craig Biography 2014

Amanda Craig grew up in upstate New York. She graduated with a Bachelors of Science in Animal Science, Pre-Veterinary Medicine from the University of New Hampshire in 2012. She is currently a third year veterinary student at Michigan State University College of Veterinary Medicine, and is also working on a Masters of Public Health, with a concentration in International Public Health. Amanda is the current President of the One Health Club, as well as an active member in the Food Animal Club and the Equine Club. This past year, she had the wonderful opportunity to work with the Michigan Department of Agriculture and Rural Development Animal Industry Division on a number of projects, as well as participate in the AVMA Legislative Fly-In, and the Veterinary Student Day at the CDC. A passionate traveler, Amanda has participated in a number of academic and volunteer opportunities abroad, including wildlife veterinary medicine and conservation in South Africa, sustainable agricultural practices in Nicaragua, and working with elephants in Thailand. She is a member of the Student American Veterinary Medical Association(SAVMA), the American Association of Public Health Veterinarians (AAPHV), the Veterinary Management Association (VBMA), the American Association of Bovine Practitioners (AABP), the American Association of Swine Veterinarians (AASV), and the American Association of Equine Practitioners (AAEP).