

Dr Amanda Jane Crews Biography 2012

I presently live in Knoxville, TN with my husband, David, and our dog Louis. I attended St George's University School of Veterinary Medicine on the island of Grenada. I just recently completed a residency program in anatomic pathology at the University of Tennessee. I have a strong interest in zoo animal pathology. I was honored to have been awarded the ACVP/AAVLD travel award last year at the American College of Veterinary Pathologists (ACVP) annual meeting in Nashville where I presented my ongoing research with naked mole-rats at the Knoxville zoo.
