

TREK award for Excellence in Diagnostic Veterinary Microbiology - 2011

Supported by Trek Diagnostic system, the prestigious Trek award for excellence in diagnostic veterinary microbiology (bacteriology) recognizes distinguished scientist (s) for research accomplishments in the field that result in new scientific findings that have application for the betterment of veterinary medicine.

Eligibility Criteria

Nominees must be person who has been recognized by their peers for significant contributions to the field of veterinary microbiology

Award

- A cash prize of $700 and a certificate/plaque is awarded.
- The award is granted at the discretion of award selection committee and may not be awarded every year. Winners will be announced on the AAVLD web site and at the annual AAVLD bacteriology subcommittee meeting.

Nominations

All nomination materials must be submitted electronically to dtewari@state.pa.us Nominations must be received by August-15th, 2011. Nominations will be considered without updating for three years. Nomination materials will not be returned. Self-nominations will not be accepted. Nominations must consist of the following:

- * Letter of Nomination. Describe the nominee's research accomplishments and how they form the foundation for application and development in the research area
- * Curriculum vitae. Including a list of nominee's publications.
- * Two letters of support. Letters of support must come from persons, other than the nominator, who are familiar with the nominee's qualifications and accomplishments. No more than one of the three letters may be from the nominee's institution, nor from the same institution.

How to Submit Nomination

- * Email the letter of nomination
- * Email nominee's CV.
- * Ask two supporters to email their letters.
- * Email all materials to dtewari@state.pa.us